DAILY MARKET LETTER.

New York, March 12—Opening quotations were practically unchanged from yesterday's closing and during the first three hours' trading they held their own pretty well, but after that quite a reaction took place, prices breaking anywhere from 1-2 to 2 points. American stocks in London were heavy, being mostly from 1-8 to 1-2 under parity. Trading again today was not so heavy, sales to noon being 216,500. The feature of the stock market is the strength in Amalgamated Copper. There has been continued heavy buying of this for the past few days on rumors that it will be placed on a 4 per cent dividend basis. Secretary Shaw's presence was felt in this market, and the general impression is that he was there to tide over any squeeze in the money market, but this he denied. So far as bond redemptions are concerned it may be pointed out that with the Panama payment of $40,000,000 coming due and only a little upward of $30,000,000 in the treasury above the $50,000,000 working balance, there is no room for government purchases. We don't think the situation warrants any big advance, for money rates must be high for some time to come. Call money ranged from 5 to 6 per cent.

VOTE ON TREATIES

Believed the Senate Will Vote on the Colombian Tuesday.

It Is Reported That There are Four Votes Lacking to Ratify the Cuban Treaty.

GOSSIP FROM WASHINGTON

Washington, March 12—Decided progress has been made toward reaching an agreement for a vote on the Colombian canal treaty, and there was a general understanding that today in all probability, some hour next Tuesday will be definitely agreed on as the time when a vote should be taken on the treaty and amendments. All stated that there yet some details to be arranged, leaving it impossible absolutely to conclude the agreement before late today. There is, however, no doubt, in the minds of the leading senators that the vote will be taken on Tuesday.

The arrangement was brought about largely by Senator Frye, who, by virtue of long service with Senator Morgan on the committee on foreign relations, has come to be on terms of great intimacy with the Alabama senator. No other senator thus far has shown any disposition to delay the final disposition of the treaty, so that all that was necessary was to secure Mr. Morgan's assent to the taking of the vote. The negotiation was begun early in the day, and after Senators Frye and Morgan had been closeted for some time the latter sought Senator Gorman and talked over the situation with him with the result indicated.

It is said that a canvass has been made of the senate on the support of the Cuban treaty. The result showed that enough votes could not be mustered to ratify the treaty, and that unless President Roosevelt is able to swing some of the opposing senators into line it is dead.

The steering committee has determined that there shall be a vote on the treaty so as to avoid the possibility of the president's calling another extra session for its consideration. Two-thirds majority is necessary for its ratification, but the canvass showed four votes lacking of the requisite number.

According to some of the Democratic senators success is likely to attend the efforts of Senator Gorman to unite the minority in the senate in a fight for the ratification of the French reciprocity treaty. The measure has been pending for four years and it is bitterly opposed by Senators Aldrich and Platt, because it affects the matters of cheap jewelry and other small articles manufactured in New England.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Hopkinsville, March 12—Medley Cansler, aged 30, a well known farmer of near Crofton, attempted suicide by hanging. He tied a plow line around his neck and fastened the other end to a beam in the tobacco barn, and then swung off. When found by a man named Armstrong, a neighbor, he was unconscious, but he was cut down and soon resuscitated. He had been despondent for several days and had threatened to destroy himself, saying that there was no satisfaction in life to him. He has a family.

TORE OFF AN EAR.

Madisonville, March 12—While Mr. Richard Ramsey was chopping a tree a limb rebounded and struck him about the head, tearing off one of his ears and badly lacerating his scalp, besides other bruises about the head and shoulders.

STATE INSURANCE

Companies to Make a Strong Pull for it.

The Court of Appeals Compels Illinois Central to Pay for Dead Fish.

IS AN UNUSUAL DECISION

Frankfort, Ky., March 12—Auditor Coulter says that part of the insurance on the state buildings expired March 8. The trustees of the library, composed of the attorney general, secretary of state and governor, fix the amount, and the custodian of public buildings places the insurance. There is now $60,000 insurance carried on the buildings, and this is continued in force until a meeting of the board directs the replacing of the policies. Custodian Lyons has arranged to replace the greater amount of the insurance through Joe Rodman, of Frankfort, and Agent Arnett, of Nicholasville. The insurance is placed subject to the approval of the governor. Attorney General Pratt has recently given a verbal opinion construing the law. The board will meet within the next day or two and fix the amount and direct the replacing.

The court of appeals, in an opinion by Judge Nunn, affirmed the Hardin circuit court in awarding $750 damages against the Illinois Central in favor of S. D. Glasscock. Appellee, with others, purchased 27 acres near Stephensburg, on which they made a fishing lake under the style of the "Stephensburg Lake and Improvement company." It was charged that appellant was responsible for oil, molasses and other subjects which it let flow into the lake, killing fish with which they had stocked the lake, and causing disagreeable stench from same.

FREE STREET FAIR

The Carnival Executive Committee May Decide on One.

Contract to be Let and Signed by Monday Night, and Work Begins.

SOME NEW SITES TALKED OF

The executive committee of the Carnival association will by Monday night have made and signed a contract with one of the carnival companies for furnishing attractions for the spring festivities, and will also have decided on the nature of the affair, and the site on which it is to be given.

It is an even break now between the Ferrari, and Gaskill-Munday Carnival companies which gets the contract, but it seems to be the impression that Ferrari Brothers, represented by Mr. H. B. Potter, will be successful.

There is still doubt whether there will be a free street fair or an enclosed carnival such as the Elks had last year and the year before. Owing to the probability of having to go far out of the business portion of the city for a satisfactory site, some of the committeemen think that it would be preferable to have the shows located along Broadway, and no admission charged except to go in them. During the two previous carnivals the whole thing was enclosed and an admission charged to the grounds, and an extra admission to the various attractions.

There is some objection, however, to departing from the usual custom of enclosing the grounds and charging to get in.

If a suitable site can be found it will mean an enclosed carnival, as last year. Another site now being considered is practically the same as last year. Instead of the library site for the midway, it has been ascertained that the midway can be located half a block further out, near the warehouse, just beyond Ninth street, and Court street, Broadway, Ninth street, and the back part of the library site used for the carnival, which would give more space than the Elks had last year.

Another site favorably spoken of is on Monroe street near Tenth, opposite the Standard Oil company's office. The committee is deliberating well before acting, but a decision will be reached by Monday night, and committees at once put to work.

DEATHS IN GALLOWAY.

Murray, March 12—The death of Mr. Jack Vance removes one of Galloway's pioneers, the deceased having assisted in building the court house here over half a century ago.

Mr. John Walker of the Pottertown neighborhood, aged 90, died from old age.

Wellington Winchester, aged 81, died near here.

RELIEF IS IN SIGHT

River Will Soon be Falling, From Indications.

There Will Probably Not Be Forty-nine Feet on the Gauge Here.

A FEW BACKWATER REPORTS

The gauge today indicates that the river will be falling here by Saturday. Only about 48 feet is expected, and there will be no '84 flood.

Only a few of the older river men have feared such an overflow as we had in '84, and all agree now that the indications are for the river to soon begin falling.

There was arise of about a foot from yesterday morning up to this morning. There is much damage in a small way both up and down the rivers, but no loss of life or serious loss of property is reported. Many of the small houses that skirt the banks are under water and a few shacks have floated away, but relief is soon expected.

The backwater is doing great damage to the fills about the city. Those on Tennessee street, Caldwell street, and near the Illinois Central passenger depot are washing away rapidly, and hundreds of dollars worth of work will no doubt be necessary before they will again be complete. Street Inspector James Eaker said today that he would use the slag donated the city by the iron furnace company in repairing the fills.

The county roads continue to suffer in places from the backwater and a few roads are impassable.

The public schools of Paducah have been affected little or none by the high water but a foot or two more will cut off some of those pupils in the West End, as well as in the southern part of the city.

Mayor Yeiser stated this morning that the sewerage system is working well, and the sewage is being carried out the mains into the river without trouble.

It will be glad news to the people of this town to learn that all fear of a disastrous flood is unjustified.

ROBBERS FOILED

Attempt to Get American Express Money.

A Dollar Is All They Secured, But They Ruined the Safe.

Wickliffe, March 12—Burglars Tuesday night made an attempt to rob the American Express office here, but the effort proved fruitless so far as securing any plunder was concerned. They rained the safe, destroyed several packages of valuable papers, broke open the ticket case and secured but 50 cents in money and 50 cents in stamps.

The interior of the office was completely wrecked by the explosion. Entrance was gained by forcing the outer door. There is no clue to the safe blowers, although the bungling way they did their work signifies that they were novices in the art.

No arrests have been made, but the officers are making a desperate effort to catch the criminals.

BURGLAR FLED

PROSECUTING ATTORNEY GILBERT FRIGHTENED ONE AWAY.

City Attorney Jesse Gilbert reported that a burglar attempted entrance to his house last night, but was frightened away.

Mr. Gilbert has been ill, but is improved and able to be about the house. Last night he was awakened by a noise in the rear of his residence and upon investigation found that someone was in his kitchen. He started in after the intruder, but the burglar fled and escaped.

ULTIMATUM GIVEN

Mine Workers Delegates Say They Want Increase.

Conference Here Today Adjourned to Meet at Louisville on March 24.

THE WORK HERE FINISHED

The second day of the conference between the miners and operators opened at 10:15 this morning with the vital question, the scale for 1903, seemingly far from a settled condition. The separate conferences began at 2:30 yesterday afternoon by both the miners and operators lasted until after supper.

National Board Member Wood announced that the miners' delegates were ready to hear the proposition from the operators.

"We have none to report except to propose the 1902 scale for 1903" said Mr. Wright.

Mr. Wood said: "The statement in a local paper as coming from an operator to the effect that the miners made from $30 to $100 a month is absolutely false. The miners do not average $35 a month and I defy contradiction."

"The miners will never accept the old scale proposition for a settlement and we will adjourn today if this is all the operators can say," continued Mr. Wood.

In response Mr. Wright stated that the operators had hoped to reach an amicable agreement, but under the circumstances he moved that they adjourn to meet in Louisville March 24.

"I will second that motion," said Mr. Wood, "but if you offer nothing better than the old scale we will never agree."

"We are willing to meet you anywhere and at any time before April 1, but after April 1 we intend to work under nothing but a new and improved scale."

Secretary Campbell said the expense of another conference would fall heavily on the miners and they were not able to stand the expense of going from city to city. He hoped that an agreement could be had at the present meeting.

National Board Members Farley and Vasey made short talks warning the operators that if an agreement of some kind was not reached by April 1 that the mines would not be running after that day. Both gentlemen expressed the hope that the operators would heed the warning in time.

Mr. Duncan said he would assure the miners that the operators would have a proposition to make when they met March 24. That things could and would be adjusted without friction and with the same good will that has prevailed throughout the conference.

At this juncture the miners asked that the operators retire and allow them a few minutes' secret session.

The operators agreed and waited on the lower floor.

At noon the operators were called up stairs by the miners' delegates. Mr. Wood announced that the miners would accept the proposition of the operators to adjourn to meet in Louisville March 24, "But if no agreement is then made to better the present scale," continued Mr. Wood, "we will adjourn sine die and the mines will close promptly April 1."

The motion was seconded and unanimously passed to meet in Louisville at 10 a. m. March 24, and the miners had finished their work in Paducah.

Most of the operators and a number of the mine workers left on the noon train, which was an hour late and by morning probably all will have gone.

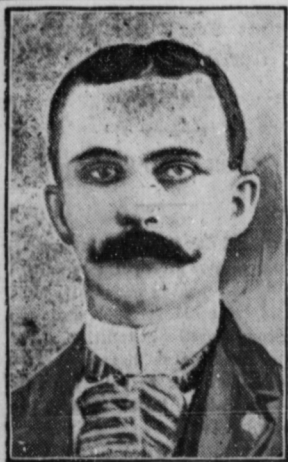

Tonight the miners' delegates are to present to the arrangement committee from Central Labor Union, whose fine work has afforded them much pleasure and entertainment during their stay, an emblem of the miners' union in gold and handsomely engraved with the name of the committee.

The presentation is to take place at Central Labor hall at Seventh and Court streets and all union men in the city are invited to attend the meeting and witness the presentation.

gent people that, when vitality is low, when the appetite fails, when oppressed by tired feelings and heaviness, when headaches and insomnia make our days miserable, when itches, skin troubles and eruptions cause alarm, that the condition of the blood calls for prompt attention.

If you have delayed the work of purifying the blood in the past months, you cannot with safety allow the spring time to pass without some effort on your part to rid yourself of perils and dangers. In the spring season Paine's Celery Compound effectively removes all impurities from the blood so that the vital fluid goes on its health restoring mission to heart, lungs, brain and all other parts making you vigorous and healthy and stronger than ever before. Mr. T. F. McCarthy, Roxbury, Mass., Post Office Money Order Clerk, and a prominent member of the Knights of Columbus, writes thus:

"I wish to express my appreciation of your most valuable remedy, Paine's Celery Compound. I have been troubled with a violent itching on hands and feet, coupled with swelling, all due to impure blood. After using Paine's Celery Compound three days, the itching and swelling completely disappeared, and after use of one full bottle, I find myself in good health."

Mr. O. L. Gregory May Become an Oil Magnate.

Much Excitement in Illinois Section
Where He Recently Bought Land.

THE PRICE HAS DOUBLED.

Mr. O. L. Gregory, the well known vinegar manufacturer of Paducah, recently purchased a tract of land in Madison county, Illinois, not far from East St. Louis. He paid about $6,000 for what he bought, and a few days ago oil was struck about a mile away, and land in that section has gone soaring.

The section is in a fever of excitement, and the St. Louis Republic says:

"Leases have been secured upon thousands of acres of land by prospectors. Orders have been placed for machinery and operations will be started as soon as the material arrives. The farmers in the neighborhood are aroused and have abandoned their crops in anticipation of striking oil on their places."

"Offers are being made by prospectors to pay one dollar an acre for oil rights besides giving the owners of the property 12 per cent of the yield if oil is struck. In many instances the offers are being refused. One of the companies formed is composed entirely of farmers."

"Land values in the locality have risen enormously and farms in the bottom lands that could have been bought a few weeks ago for $75 an acre are being held at $400 and $500."

"Conservative business men of East St. Louis, who have seen the workings of the well now sunk, say that the prospects are good for a gusher. If the oil can be obtained in paying quantities, they say, the boom of Beaumont will pale into insignificance, as the section is in the very center of transportation and the oil can be supplied to the country at a low cost."

"The wells that are to be sunk will be on the smaller of the mounds that dot this section of Madison county. It has always been claimed that the mounds were erected by a prehistoric race of mound builders. The promoters say that the smaller mounds are the result of oil eruptions and that the conditions are the same as on Spindletop at Beaumont."

"The well now sunk is on the Keller farm, about two miles from Peters Station. Work was started almost a year ago by Ferd Keller and his son, who owns the place. A 75 foot derrick has been raised and a depth of 1,400 feet reached."

"Tests show that the oil now obtained is slightly superior to Beaumont oil. At the present depth is a layer of Trenton rock or oil stone 29 feet thick. This, the prospectors say, gives every indication that the oil is plentiful and will give a gusher of powerful capacity."

The present theory is that all the land on which East St. Louis is located in addition to much other land, is over unlimited quantities of oil.

Mr. Gregory could get much more than he paid for his land now, but will hold on until there are further developments.

More Monkeying with the City Light Plant—Engineer Washington's Report.

THE GREGORY FIRE REPORT

Members of the light, street and fire committees met at the city hall last night to discuss various matters referred to them.

The electric light matter was talked of and it was again decided to forward a list of what is needed at the power house to the supply houses and ascertain the cost. This might have been done six months ago, but it wasn't. It is said that when Superintendent Wallace wanted a ten days' vacation recently, the committee gave him a thirty days leave of absence, one reason being to have some one else run the city plant a while and find out if there is any fault in the superintendent, which it does not appear there is.

A prominent electrician is authority for the assertion that a great many of the street lamps now considered worthless could be made serviceable simply by purchasing new parts for some of them, and that it is not necessary to buy new lamps in every instance, and the city need not go to such an expense.

The matter of opening Husbands street from Third to Fourth was discussed but not decided. The city owns property on both streets, but not enough.

City Engineer Washington stated that for the purpose of expeditious surveying in the city, there ought to be monuments, or small stone blocks located in the middle of an intersection, every two blocks throughout the city, but that there are only 18 in the entire city. Engineer Washington also reported that the map of the city, including every block and every piece of property on it, with dimensions and name of owner at the time the map was made, had never been completed by Engineer Lyon, and that no transfers of property have ever been made on it since it was finished. It was decided to have Engineer Washington present both these matters to the board next Monday night.

The fire committee's report in regard to the Gregory fire will be that neither the city nor the water company was to blame for the loss. The firemen responded to the alarm as quickly as it was turned in, and fought the flames the best they could from the outside. The fire was so hot when Mr. Gregory himself got out of the house that he could not get back in after telephoning in an alarm, hence the firemen could not be expected to get in and fight it after they arrived.

LEAPED TO DEATH

Suspect in Burdick Case Killed
by Automobile.

Was a Prominent Resident of Buffalo and His Wife May Also Die.

THE MACHINE SWERVED

Buffalo, N. Y., March 12—More terrible almost than the death of E. L. Burdick was the tragedy that occurred when Arthur R. Pennell, one of the chief figures in the investigation of the Burdick murder, was hurled headlong into eternity. Mr. Pennell was riding in his electric automobile with Mrs. Pennell. They were on Kensington avenue, near Fillmore avenue, skimming along the edge of the Gehres stone quarry, a huge rock-ribbed hole in the ground. Mr. Pennell's hat blew off. The automobile swerved, and in some inexplicable manner it leaped over the curb into the abyss below. Pennell was killed instantly, his head being crushed into an unrecognizable mass. Mrs. Pennell was injured so severely that the surgeons at the Sisters' hospital, to which she was taken, say the chances of recovery are very slight.

Two boys saw the tragedy. They were too far away to know positively just how it happened. Mrs. Pennell, when found was unable to speak. She was only semi-conscious when taken to the hospital, and could speak no coherent words. After the operations performed immediately by Dr. Eugene Smith in the hope of saving her life, she lapsed into unconsciousness and hence there can be no true version of precisely how the affair occurred.

Recently Mr. Pennell made the following statement: "About this case of Burdick, I have told the authorities I went away to New York before the murder, and that I met Mrs. Burdick while I was away. In fact I saw Mrs. Burdick near New York two or three days before the murder of Mr. Burdick. I came home again Wednesday, the day before the murder. I have told it frankly, and the meeting was a proper one. But they seemed determined to drag all this business out in the papers. I would do anything to stop it."

MODEST CLAIM

CAPT. CALHOUN TO GET $72,000
FOR COLLECTING OUR BILL.

Frankfort, Ky., March 12—In pursuance of the action of the sinking fund commissioners Governor Beckham has turned over to the auditor, and he, in turn, to the treasurer, the $1,323,999 war claim collected from the government. The permit of the auditor directed that the money go into the general expenditure fund, and an order was made on the books transferring to the sinking fund the amount of $770,000, the amount due said fund from the general expenditure fund. Thus ends one chapter, and the next thing is to secure the bonds "at or below their nominal value" before the state debt can be paid.

Captain Calhoun's account for collecting the money, properly approved by the governor for $71,199, which is the maximum amount allowed by the statute, was presented to Auditor Coulter, who referred it to the attorney general before paying it. The attorney general will pass on it this week.

ILLINOIS CROPS.

REPORTED THAT MANY FRUITS
ARE DAMAGED.

A number of farmers and fruit growers of Massac county, Ill., across the river, say that the outlook for fruit crops is bad. The peaches, plums and cherries it seems have suffered most and a very short and inferior crop of these fruits is expected. Apples will be fair and pears good. It is yet most too early to tell much about the berry crop, but this is perhaps damaged also.

The condition is due, so it is claimed, to the exceedingly warm spell in January, which caused the buds to swell, only to be blighted by the cold and blizzard in February.

FINE DOG KILLED

MR. FINIS LACK'S COLLEY RUN DOWN BY A STREET CAR.

A fine collie dog belonging to Mr. Finis Lack was killed by a street car on the West Jefferson street trestle this morning early. Mr. Charles Warren had been keeping the animal at his home in the West End, and was taking him home this morning when a car came along just as the dog ran ahead and started to cross the trestle. Mr. Warren was nearby and claims the motorman made no effort to stop.

The dog was a very fine animal, being valued at $100, and its father has won over $5,000 in prizes.

TOBACCO TO GO UP.

THE RAIN HAS PREVENTED MUCH PLANT SETTING.

Unless this rainy, wet weather ends during the next few days tobacco plants will be very scarce in this end of the state, says the Mayfield Messenger.

There is only a small per cent of plant beds sowed, and unless the rains stop it will be impossible for the farmers to sow them. If all signs don't fail and the weather don't clear up the farmers who have held their tobacco will realize good prices for it.

Mr. W. A. Davis went to Oaks this morning to look after lumber.

RESPECTIVE RIGHTS

A ST. LOUIS JUDGE THINKS MOTORMEN MUST BE CAREFUL.

St. Louis, Mo., March 12.—In the United States court of appeals an opinion, handed down by Judge Thayer, concurred in by Judge Caldwell defines the rights and privileges of pedestrians and vehicles upon street railway tracks, and the duties of motor men in running their cars.

The plaintiff in the case, whose vehicle was wrecked and the occupants injured, set forth that the motorman was guilty of negligence, and the defense set up a claim that the plaintiff was guilty of contributory negligence. This was the main question at issue in the appeal.

Judge Thayer held that a motorman is under the same obligations to exercise ordinary care and prudence so as to avoid collisions and injuring persons, and the persons are to exercise care not to get in the way of street cars, so as to be run over and injured.

He says pedestrians and vehicles have a right to cross the tracks of street railways at any point besides the regular crossings, and to use the tracks for any distance for a matter of safety or convenience, where they do not unnecessarily interfere with or obstruct the passage of the cars. A motorman, he says, has no right to act on the assumption that he is entitled to a clear track at all times, and that pedestrians or vehicles are bound, at their peril, no matter at what inconvenience to get out of the way.

He held that the plaintiff in this case had a right to use the street railway tracks as a convenience in avoiding the mud hole in the street, and that the motorman was guilty of negligence in not taking proper precautions to reduce the speed of his car when he saw the vehicle.

Judge Sanborne filed a lengthy dissenting opinion.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Lexington, March 12.—Col. R. P. Stoll, one of the most distinguished men of the place, dropped dead last night. He was a leading merchant and politician.

Mr. W. F. Bradshaw, Sr., went to Benton this morning on business and will return this afternoon.

TRAGIC FATE

OFTEN ESCAPED DEATH AND WAS FINALLY MURDERED.

Marion, Ind., March 12.—Mrs. Nellie McKinstrey, who eloped with Charles Fowler, a wholesale candy merchant of Marion, about nine months ago and went to Chicago, is said to have either killed herself or been murdered in Cincinnati.

Her body was found floating in the canal. She left Marion with Charles Fowler. They are said to have lived at the Great Northern hotel while in Chicago. She was formerly Miss Nellie Baldwin. She married O. S. McKinstrey, a theatrical agent, who died about four years ago. She then went to Texas, where she lived for a time on a cattle ranch.

The owner of the ranch was in love with her and was intensely jealous. He came upon her and a party of cowboys on the plains during a round-up and shot her through the breast. She fell from her horse seriously wounded. The cowboys sent a dozen bullets through the body of the ranchman and left him on the plains. Mrs. McKinstrey soon recovered and returned to Marion.

SAYS HE IS SANE

ALLEGED LUNATIC MAKES HIS ESCAPE IN BERLIN

Berlin, March 12.—The former tutor of Emperor William, Captain Sidney O'Danne, who for years has been an inmate of an asylum in Schleswig Holstein, escaped a few days ago, and is at present concealed here. The emperor or is said to be extremely worried, and though the newspapers here are forced to be silent, it is well known that the government would give almost anything to hear that he had been recaptured and safely placed within the walls of an asylum.

Your correspondent saw Captain O'Danne yesterday. He seems absolutely rational, and insists that he has never been insane, and says that Emperor William has kept him in the asylum for years because his vanity and pride would not allow a man that had boxed his imperial ears to remain at liberty. The captain announces that he intends to leave for New York in a few days, and will then publish two sensational books under the titles of "A German Dreyfus Affair" and "William the Small."

THE WEATHER.

Fair tonight and Friday. Warmer
Friday.

Kansas has just re-enacted a nuisance law, but at last accounts Carrie Nation was not making any preparations to emigrate.

Paducah papers have a queer admixture of material to draw from just now—miners' conference, prospective flood, and missionary meeting.

A Lexington court has decided that there is something in a name. Gamblers charged with gambling in Graves saloon were acquitted because it happened to be Kearn's saloon.

Judging from the scandals that have followed thick and fast in Saxony, that diminutive government probably feels like it can say that while it aint so many, it is at least a few.

Hopkinsville has just completed a workhouse, an institution Paducah has long needed. If Hopkinsville can use one to advantage, Paducah could. Judge Sanders has long urged a workhouse, and no one knows better than he the necessity for one.

Missouri celebrates the payment of her state debt Thursday afternoon. This shows what a business and economical administration that of Governor Dockery has been. It's a pity we can't say as much for that of Governor Beckham, declares the Mayfield Messenger, Democrat. We will talk about that latter one, neighbor, when Beckham is nominated and you fellows have to "back back."

It seems that the maps that Engineer Lyon was paid something like $2,000 to draw, and spent a year on, have been so neglected by some one since they were drawn that they are now practically useless. These maps must be kept up to date, or they soon become useless. Every transfer of property should be promptly noted, but it seems from a report from the city engineer that no transfers whatever have ever been made on them, since they were drawn two or three years ago. This is only one of the many ways the people's money is wasted year after year.

SOME MORE HARMONY.

The late Col. W. J. Bryan, from some point in Michigan, announces to a weary, waiting world that he does not think Democrats should feel despondent. Certainly not. Haven't they still Mr. Bryan to talk to them?

He says of Mr. Cleveland: "I have been accused of preventing harmony. No man wants harmony more than I do, and no one has suffered more for lack of it than I have. But you can't keep in one organization men who want to cut each other's throats. They accuse me of saying hard things about Cleveland. I never said anything about him so hard as did President McKinley, who said 'Cleveland is trying to make money the master, and all things else the servant.' I am not ashamed of my humble part I may have had in driving out of the Democratic party a man who tried to make money the master and everything else the servant. I want him in some other party than ours. I would be glad to help organize one for his exclusive use."

In the same column of the same papers Mr. Cleveland is quoted. He doesn't deign to criticize Mr. Bryan. He only said in reply to the question if he thought silver would figure at all as an issue within the Democratic party: "I did not know that anyone thought about silver nowadays."

Thus these two mighty pillars of Democracy continue to promote harmony.

MORE HARMONY; LESS H—L.

(Murray Ledger.)

We feel it our duty, being interested in the success of the Democratic party, to say to the public and to those that believe in and want to see the nominees of this coming primary succeed, that it is time the speakers and the press were calling a halt. All of these misrepresentations, abuse, slang and vituperations only tend to strengthen the Republican party, and it does seem to us that an intelligent people will feel that they are being outraged by the office-seekers and the press. Stop it! Be men! Tell the truth! All of this contention and abuse is shameful. It seems to us that the time is almost at hand when no one but the Bluffer and the Bully can afford to run for office in this country, and that with his pistols and knives swung about his belt. If these men that are candidates for the different state offices before us now are half as mean as the different candidates and newspapers say, they certainly, for the sake of good government, ought to be relegated to the rear or sent to some other country.

IN POLICE COURT.

A SERIOUS CHARGE AGAINST JOHN GRIFFIN DISMISSED.

Judge Sanders this morning dismissed the warrant against John Griffin, colored, who was charged by Clara Kendrick, colored, with detention.

The evidence was such as to indicate malice and Judge Sanders did not think it strong enough to hold the defendant. Griffin has been before the court for a breach of the peace and the girl was one of the witnesses on the case. There was some false swearing done and Judge Sanders is today investigating and will issue warrants for the guilty persons.

The breach of the peace case against John Griffin, colored, was filed away. Percy Allen was fined $10 and costs for a breach of the peace.

The case against Will Taylor, colored, for setting up a game was continued until Monday morning.

FOUND A SILVER MINE.

Owingsville, Ky., March 12—News reaches here that M. A. Adams was prospecting near Salt Lick, this county, and found a mine which is believed to be a silver mine. A sample has been sent to analysts for an analysis. The mine seemed to have been used by Indians, as money and Indian ornaments were found there. There is much excitement in that section.

Engines Smashed in a Collision at Horse Branch.

The Dispatchers Change—Minor Railroad Notes.

There was a head end collision at Horse Branch yesterday but no one was injured.

Freight train No. 174, engine No. 2, ran into another freight, south bound and both engines were badly damaged. The cause of the accident could not be learned. Several cars in the trains were damaged and the wreck will amount to quite a great deal in damage.

The Illinois Central dispatching offices on the Louisville division of the road are the center of much interest at present and there is much speculation as to whether or not they will be removed to Paducah again from Princeton, where they are now located. It has been stated from good authority that the offices will be moved but no official notice has been received. If this is done Trainmaster T. A. Bank's office will come here with the dispatchers.

A car turned over at Martin, Tenn., last night and the wrecker was sent out from here this morning to pick it up and set it on the rails again. No one was injured and little delay was occasioned by the accident.

Effective this date Mr. W. S. Andrews is appointed trainmaster of Washington division of the Southern, vice Mr. J. B. Gannon, resigned. Mr. Andrews was formerly trainmaster on the Illinois Central at Champaign and Carbondale.

Mr. J. W. McCoy, formerly a section foreman in the local yards, has gone to Mattoon, Ill., to accept a position on the I. C. road at that place. He will have charge of the yard gang at Mattoon.

FATAL HEART DISEASE

ILLINOIS CENTRAL BRAKEMAN DIED NEAR THE HOSPITAL GATE.

Charles Alexander, colored, of Covington, Tenn., died last evening near the Illinois Central hospital gate from heart disease as the hospital attendants were moving him from the ambulance to the hospital. He had been ill from heart disease for about a week at a house near Twelfth and Monroe, and it was decided to take him to the hospital, but he died while being removed. He was a brakeman, and the remains will probably be shipped to Covington for burial.

ANSWER WAS A POSER.

Wendell Phillips' Apt Reply to Pro-Slavery Minister.

A short time prior to the outbreak of the civil war, Wendell Phillips was traveling through the West, making abolition speeches. On the same trip one day was a pro-slavery Baptist minister from the South, who, on learning that Phillips was on the train entered his car and introduced himself. He then said, "And you are Wendell Phillips, I believe?" "Yes, sir," said Mr. Phillips. "Engaged in saving negroes from slavery, eh?" "Yes, sir." "Well, why don't you go down South to save them?" Mr. Phillips replied: "You, I believe, are a minister of the Gospel?" "Yes, sir." "Engaged in saving souls from hell?" "Yes." "Well, why don't you go there and save them?"

POPE CABLES

SENDS HIS BLESSING TO LOUISVILLE CATHOLICS.

Louisville, March 12—"Tibi cacterisque sociis beatissimus pater grato corde benedictionem impertit.

M. CARD. RAMPOLLA."

This message came in the form of a cablegram to Mr. Barney Campbell, president of the St. Vincent de Paul conferences of the city, which represents all the Roman Catholic congregations of Louisville.

It is in Latin and means in English: "The Holy Father gratefully gives his blessing to you and your associates." The signer of the message is the celebrated Cardinal Rampolla, the secretary of state to his holiness, Pope Leo XIII. Upon the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the election of Pope Leo, February 25, there was a meeting of the St. Vincent de Paul conferences, at which an appropriate program celebrating the day was rendered. It was also decided to send a cablegram of congratulations to the pope. Mr. Barney Campbell dispatched the message.

The scholarship bureau of the Success Co. will also gladly explain a plan by which boys and girls can secure an education, the Success Co. itself purchasing scholarships in return for a comparatively small amount of work. INSTITUTE CLOSED

Delegates Have Returned Home After a Profitable Stay.

Session Ended Last Night with a Fine Sermon.

The missionary institute of the Paducah and Paris districts which was in session at the Broadway Methodist church yesterday, closed last night with an able sermon on mission delivered by Rev. Seth Ward, D. D., of Nashville, Tenn., assistant missionary secretary of the M. E. church south. Dr. Ward's theme was "The World's Need" and he made a strong and logical plea. He is an eloquent and forcible speaker, and handled the great question in a way that held the interest of his audience throughout, and carried conviction in its every step.

Most of the visitors who have been in attendance on the combined Sunday school and missionary institutes left last night and this morning for their homes. There were quite a number here, and everyone was delighted with the occasion. Rev. H. B. Johnston, presiding elder of the Paducah district, and the local committee deserve much credit for the success with which it was managed.

MEDICOS MEET.

DR. DELIA CALDWELL READ AN ENTERTAINING PAPER.

The McCracken County Medical society met last night with Dr. Delia Caldwell, with a good attendance.

Solicitor Worton has agreed to prepare same by that time and the doctors hope to be able to push it through both boards and will be present at both meetings if necessary.

OLD TIME KENTUCKY WEDDINGS

(Louisville Times.)

In the early days of Kentucky, marriages were celebrated with very little pomp. The ceremony usually took place about noon. The bride wore a plain white gown made at home, carried no flowers and wore neither veil nor diamonds. There were no flower girls or ushers.

Dinner was served soon after the ceremony. As there were no caterers in Kentucky at that early period, the cooking was done by "Black Mammy." It is true there were no shredded biscuits, ice cream etc., but the dinner was palatable and wholesome. It was customary at that time for the relations or friends in the neighborhood to take their best cooks and assist in preparing the dinner. Immediately after dinner, if the weather permitted, the young folks strolled out into the orchard or garden, while the older ones repaired to the porch or yard, and discussed the prospects of the bride and groom, the crops, price of slaves, etc., etc.

The next day was infaire day, the day on which the groom took his bride to his father's home, where a like entertainment of the previous day took place. The traveling was usually done on horseback.

It was customary in those days for the relatives and friends to meet and erect a cabin for the newly married couple. One room with an attic, was the usual size of the house. There were no stairs, the approach to the attic being by a ladder. The furnishings of the cabin were usually done by the parents of the bride and groom. There was one window and one door to the house. No lock or key was necessary at that time, only a latch with the string on the outside. After the newly married couple settled in their home they had what was termed a house warming, which included the relatives and friends of both parties. It usually lasted all day, after which the young couple settled down to life's work.

It was just too mean of you to have horrid stuff like that lying around the house. It took me over one hour with a hammer and chisel to get the batch of tea biscuits out of the baking tin.—New York Herald.

LOST HIS SIGHT.

AND THIS WORKMAN WILL SUE LOCAL CONTRACTORS FOR $2,500.

Attorney William Reed, of the law firm of Reed and Berry, left at noon for Elizabethtown, Ky., to file a suit against Messrs. Pat Halloran and F. W. Katterjohn, the well known Paducah contractors.

The plaintiff in the suit is George A. Blair, who was employed by the defendants while cutting out a tunnel at Fair View, Ky., on the I. C. road. He states that in his petition that a sliver from a hard tempered chisel struck him in the eye and destroyed permanently his sight. He asks $2,500 damages claiming that the chisel was improperly tempered by the defendants' blacksmith.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

This morning the ladies' class in athletics met for regular drill work with a good attendance.

Tonight the boys will give a big social. A musical program has been arranged and after the music and games, lunch will be served. This is the first boys' social at the association in some time.

PARK LAID OFF.

PREPARATIONS BEING MADE TO GET READY FOR BASEBALL.

Yesterday afternoon the baseball grounds in Wallace park were laid off, and work on the grand stand will begin next week. It is not known exactly when the contract for the work will be let, but it will be soon. The local promoters are pushing things and will be ready for business when the season opens.

Mrs. Arthur Pennell, whose husband was killed by his automobile running away, and who was herself injured, is dead.

ASKING QUESTION S.

AN INQUIRY CHANGED A MAN'S WHOLE LIFE.

When you get a man to recognize that his bad feelings come from improper food and that he can get well by using scientific food the battle is half won. One of New York's business men says:

"I was troubled for a long time with indigestion, headache and stomach trouble, and had taken various medicines, but with no good results. I concluded to see how a change of food would affect me. I never cared particularly for cereals of any kind, but ate meat and pastry continually and drank coffee.

"I found on inquiring that Grape-Nuts were highly spoken of and decided to give them a trial. To say I was surprised at the result would not begin to do justice to my feelings. My headaches left me; my brain became clearer and active; my attacks of indigestion grew fewer and fewer until they ceased entirely, and where I once went home tired, fagged out and disposed to any exertion whatever, I now found a different state of affairs.

"My color was good, my muscles strong and firm and fully equal to anything I asked of them, instead of soft and flabby. I live two miles from my business and walk it daily back and forth if the weather permits. I am 55 years old and feel as well and strong as when I was 30, and can ride seventy miles a day on a bicycle without feeling any bad results." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

EVEN BREAK.

CASE OF LOCK JAW

KANSAS CITY MAN HAS MIRACULOUS RECOVERY.

Kansas, City, Mo., March 12—Frank Marshall, the young shoemaker who was taken to the city hospital last Wednesday suffering from lockjaw, and whose life was for a time despaired of, was discharged as cured from the hospital yesterday, says the Times.

Marshall was the happiest man in Kansas City, as at one time he had given up all hope of ever getting well. One of the physicians of the hospital said yesterday that in the 14 years he has had opportunity to observe cases of this nature Marshall is the first man cured. For two days after he was brought to the institution Marshall could neither eat nor speak, and Friday night, when his jaw suddenly fell from its rigid position, his first remark was that he was hungry. He was given a glass of milk.

At the time Marshall's life was still in danger, and he was unable to speak, he was asked by the attendant to tell something of his life. One of the answers he wrote on the tab was that he was a first cousin to Pearl Bryan, the girl for whose murder Jackson and Walling were hanged in Covington, Ky., several years ago.

BROOKPORT NEWS.

Messrs. Earle Johnston and Ed Watts of Paducah, visited friends here Tuesday.

Mr. Louis Williams will move to Paducah Thursday where he goes to work in a barber shop. Eugene Lytton will have charge of his shop here.

Mrs. W. A. Spence, wife of our Baptist minister, who has been dangerously ill, is reported better, her many friends will be glad to learn.

State Sunday School Worker A. T. Arnold, of Wheaton, Ill., held a Sunday school convention at the Christian church Monday. Also organizing a graduating Bible class.

The rapid rise of the river is causing some apprehension among the people. The water is already in the office of Leonard Bros. factory and in a short time will be in the basement of the school house.

Dr. George S. Dodd is very ill at his home on Third street.

Brookport is to have a normal school this spring at the close of the present term.

THE STRENUOUS LIFE.

(Metropolis Herald.)

Teams of college girls in a game of basketball at Saginaw, Mich., Saturday got so enthusiastic that they mauled and elbowed each other at a great rate. The bloomers of one of the captains were seriously torn and another girl got kicked in the stomach, which temporarily disabled her. The report adds that the game was very exciting and has created a sensation in social circles. Doubtless. This is another illustration of the accomplishments of physical culture as taught in the more modern institutions. Think of the difference it would make were the thousands of downtrodden wives suddenly equipped with the science of basketball. Physical culture has been taken in moderation in Metropolis only, but let us hope that yet great strides may be made. Let us wait patiently in anticipation of local experts acquiring the shining goal of—of torn bloomers!

SECRETS

At the Price of Suffering.

Woman on her way to semi-invalidism caused by pregnancy suffers much pain. Ignorance prompts her to suffer alone in silence and remain in the dark as to the true cause—motherhood.

Mother's Friend takes the doctor's place and she has no cause for an interview. She is her own doctor, and her modesty is protected. Daily application to the breast and abdomen throughout pregnancy will enable her to undergo the period of gestation in a cheerful mood and rest undisturbed.

Mother's Friend

is a liniment for external use only. It would indeed be shameful if the sacrifice of modesty were necessary to the successful issue of healthy children. All women about to become mothers need send only to a drug store and for $1.00 secure the prize childbirth remedy. Healthy babies are the result of using Mother's Friend. Our book "Motherhood" mailed free. THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA.

KILLED BROTHER.

MOONSHINER STABBED AND KILLED IN TENNESSEE.

Knoxville, Tenn., March 12—Garrett Heddon, a notorious outlaw and moonshiner, has been stabbed to death by his brother, Riley Heddon, in Polk county. A year ago in an altercation with another brother Garrett killed him, and this murder is what led to his own death. Garrett and Riley had visited the town of Reliance and had started home when they became involved in a quarrel about Garrett having killed his brother, the result being that Riley plunged a knife through his body. Garrett was taken to his home, where after his family had assembled, he gave to his eldest son, aged 10, his pistol, making him swear that he would kill his uncle when he was large enough.

CHILDREN'S COUGHS AND COLDS
Mrs. Joe McGrath, 327 E. 1st street, Hutchinson, Kan., writes: "I have given Ballard's Horehound Syrup to my children for coughs and colds for the past four years, and find it the best medicine I ever used." Unlike many cough syrups, it contains no opium, but will soothe and heal any disease of the throat or lungs quicker than any other remedy. 25c, 50c, and $1 at DuBois, Kolb & Co.

STOVES GO UP.

A RAISE OF 5 PER CENT TO BE MADE.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 12—The Southern and Western Stove Manufacturers' convention concluded their joint session here and it was one of the most important meetings the two bodies have ever held, the action taken indicates that there is to be a close alliance between the members of the two associations, which embrace every stovemaker of any consequence in the country. About 100 manufacturers were in attendance. It was unanimously decided to increase the prices of all stove manufactured goods 5 per cent, to take effect March 15. This was considered advisable on account of the great scarcity of raw material and its present prices.

A PHYSICIAN WRITES.

"I am desirous of knowing if the profession can obtain Herbine in bulk for prescribing purposes? It has been of great use to me in treating cases of dyspepsia brought on by excesses or overwork. The SOUTHERNERS

By Cyrus Townsend Brady

Copyright, 1908, by Cyrus Townsend Brady

"Stop!" instantly cried Peyton, in a clear voice heard on the very outskirts of the assemblage. "You are mistaken, gentlemen. In part, at least, I did in some degree engage myself to the south last night."

"In some degree?" cried a girl's voice, piercing the awful silence, shrill with surprise and horror.

It was Mary Annan.
"Carried away by the enthusiasm of the party," went on Peyton steadily, looking down at the surprised, awe-stricken faces of the men before him, although the sharp cry of the girl pierced his very soul, "moved by the example of veterans, an honored father, and influenced by—"

For the life of him he could not prevent his glance then from sweeping around until it rested upon the face of the woman he loved, standing by the railing, which she grasped with astonishing intensity, and staring at him with a horror struck, bewildered, piteous face scarcely less white than his own. The cold sweat beaded upon his brow as he looked. He felt something rising in his throat and choking him.
His heart struck him like a triphammer.
Still he persisted.

"For—various reasons, gentlemen,
which need not be mentioned," he continued more slowly, moistening his lips nervously, but still resolute to go on,
"I—I forgot myself."

A deep groan burst from the lips of the colonel behind him. The old man put his hand to his head and staggered as if he would have fallen. The bitterness of death was with him, and added to the agonies of shame. His son a traitor! O God, could that be?

"My son, my son!" cried his mother,
in a voice tense with emotion. "Think!
Think! What is it you are saying?"

Darrow stepped across the porch and stood with clinched hands and threatening brow beside his lifelong friend,
the incarnation of force and menace.
In his soul, too, Mary Annan's bitter cry was ringing. Peyton looked neither to the right nor left.

"Gentlemen," he continued, moisten-ing his dry, parched lips again and again, "I love the south. My heart is with her. Here are father, mother, friends, and—the woman I love as well.
I would give my lifeblood for them, but I cannot give up my honor. My duty constrains me. I am an officer—with a magnificent gesture he lifted his hand to his cap and removed it—"of the United States." Was his strength coming back to him at the sound of the beloved name? Yes, yes, thank God!
He went on more firmly: "I have sworn allegiance to the United States.
I must be faithful to my duty. Here is my commission as ensign, here are my orders to report at Washington at once. I must go. I cannot be your captain, gentlemen, much as I appreciate the high honor, because I must serve the United States."

"To h—l with the d—d traitor!"
shrieked a man in the outskirts of the crowd, lifting his fist in wrath, and, catching his example, the yard rang with cries and shouts.

"Down with him!"

"Mob him!"

"Let's ride him on a rail!"

"Curse the nigger lover!"

"Down with the black Republican!"

"Gentlemen," said the old colonel, galvanized into life by this awful display of passion, "no more of this! I beg you, no violence. This—that was—my son has made his choice. Leave him. Leave us, I beg of you. Let him go forth alone. The contempt of friends, the hatred of acquaintances, reputation by his father and mother and by those who loved him will be punishment enough."

Peyton's mother bowed her head upon her daughter's shoulder, and her body shook with sobs. Mary Annan still stared as if fascinated at the immortal face of Peyton. Why, why—even in that awful moment, the query flashed into the girl's mind—had she ever called him a dreamer?

He stood looking neither to the right
nor left, staring ahead at the company of Light Infantry with a face as set,
as hard, as cold as if carved out of marble.

At his side stood Darrow, shudders running over his body. One touch, one spark, and he would have struck down his whilom friend. Peyton realized this. He was sick with horror at the thought. He shuddered too. Was it fear? What was it? Was he a coward, indeed? By the living God he would stand there upon that porch and face them all if the next heartbeat were to be his last.

"We came for a captain," said the first sergeant suddenly, as the tumult and the shoutings died away, "and we are going to have one. By your leave, lieutenant. Comrades, I nominate for our captain Sergeant Bob Darrow of the cavalry, if he'll take it."

"Darrow! Let's have Darrow!" shouted the others.

"Those who are in favor of the election of Sergeant Robert Darrow will say 'Aye,'" said the lieutenant promptly.

A great shout of approval burst from the company.

"Men," said Darrow hoarsely and brokenly, "I appreciate the honor. After the treachery we have heard here I can only do my part as a loyal son of the state. I accept the office, and, please God, if the battle come may we be found together in the front ranks."

The old colonel's face, no less white than that of his son, turned with stately calmness to the young soldier standing like a demigod on the steps of the porch. No wonder the physical nature of Mary Annan and of many another woman rejoiced in the splendid perfection of the young man.

"My boy," cried the colonel, seizing Darrow by the hand, "you are a true son of the south. We are all proud of you."

And Mary Annan fled to the new captain's side and took his hand again and would have kissed it in the excitement of that moment, but he would not permit her.

"I wished you goodspeed last night,"
she said. "I do it again now, with more heart than before."

"Gentlemen," said the colonel as the cheering died away, "you will pardon me if I say I cannot ask you to partake of my hospitality under the present circumstances."

"We await your commands, Captain Darrow," said Lieutenant Johnstone.

"March your men to the armory," said Darrow. "I will be there in half an hour."

"You will understand me, friends and neighbors, I am sure," said the colonel to the others, "if I now beg you to leave us alone."

The group waited, silent and motionless, on the porch until the last strag-gler had departed from the gate.

CHAPTER XVII.

DRIVEN AWAY.

NOW, sir," said the colonel,

turning to his oldest son.

"Wait, sir," cried the girl,

interrupting him and coming close to Peyton. "Do you call yourself a gentleman?" she asked him fiercely, her hands twisting together nervously in a writhing, anguished motion. "Last night on the porch, after you decided, you said words of love to me—and I—I believed in you. Oh, hear the infamy, all! I believed in you, I trusted you. You put your arm around me; I did not resist. You kissed me!"

She brushed her lips with the back of her hand in ineffable scorn as she spoke, with a constant rising voice.

"Almost you persuaded me to love you,
I gloried in you! Oh, was it a lie? Did you do it all to win a woman's lips? Are you a thief and a coward as well as a traitor?"

Peyton attempted to speak, but before he could do so Darrow grasped him roughly by the shoulders with both hands.

"D—n you, you infernal villain!" he shouted, shaking him to and fro in his powerful arms. "Did you dare do that? I'll kill you where you stand!"

But with a strength surprising in one so slender Peyton dragged himself away. His hand went to the hilt of his sword; the blade flashed in the air as he partly drew it from the scabbard.

"Stop!" cried the colonel. "Put up your weapon, sir! Your friends will need it, and on this porch we fight only with gentlemen."

"You are right, sir," said the young man proudly, yet wincing under his father's sneer, thrusting his sword back into its scabbard; "they will need it, and they shall have it."

But his resentment at once gave place to other feelings. Those before him were his all. Might he not persuade them, justify himself?

"I can understand how you must feel, father—all of you," he said. "Miss Mary, you did persuade me last night.
I intended to resign then. I kissed you with as loving and as true a heart as ever beat in a man's breast. For that kiss I am deeply sorry, and I humbly beg your pardon. Anything you can say of me cannot be as deep as the recollection of it. But it was not in false pretense. I was yours then and yours, father, and yours, mother, and yours, Darrow. Now I belong to my country."

"Thank God," cried Mary Annan passionately, "I didn't promise you anything! It was gratitude—gratitude, do you hear?—rather than love.
I thought possibly I might love you,
but I did not. I hate you; I loathe you! If you were in my heart, I'd tear it out and trample upon it to put you out of my recollection."

She stamped upon the porch as she spoke. Then she shrank nearer to Darrow, laying her hand confidently upon his strong arm, as if she had found a protector. She felt outraged in the very center of her being, and the honest love and admiration of the young soldier were grateful to her.

"Say the word, Miss Mary," said that young man instantly, "and I will kill him where he stands."

"That would be an easy solution," cried Peyton bitterly. "I would welcome it indeed were you to kill me like a gentleman."

"I would kill you like a dog!" hissed
Darrow, stepping forward.

But two people intervened. One, strange to say, was Mary Annan, who caught his outstretched hand with a sudden fierce gesture, and the other was young Willis, who sprang before his brother.

"I'm only a boy," he said coolly. "I don't agree with Boyd here, but I'm a Peyton, and nobody shall speak so of him, much less lay hand upon him, in my presence."

"Thank you, Willis," said Peyton slowly. "But don't get into any difficulty on my account. I can take care of myself. Father—"

"Call me not by that name, sir!" said
the old man sternly.

"Mother!" he continued, stepping toward the woman who bore him, and he noticed with added pain that all the youthfulness and charm he had marveled at last night had gone from her face, leaving it gray and broken and old.

As he stretched out his arms toward her she made a step forward, but the colonel caught her by the arm and swept her to his breast, saying with cold determination, as to a stranger:

"This is my wife and is nothing to
you."

"Pink!" cried Boyd in desperation,
turning to his sister as a last resort.

But Pink had gone to Mary Annan and the girls were clasped in each other's arms. Pink was crying bitterly, but Mary Annan stood with her head high by Bob Darrow, with a look scarcely less resolute and infinitely more bitter on her face than that on Peyton's.

"Listen, sir!" said his father. "You have made your choice. You must go.
I wish neither to see you nor hear of you, and from henceforth you shall be as one dead to us. Your name shall not be mentioned in this house. If any child of mine shall have the inclination, I forbid him or her to hold any communication with you. Here is no longer home for you. Your trunk shall be sent to the station tonight. The money I have held in trust for you from your grandfather's estate, amounting to some $5,000, will be paid over to you at the bank today at 3 o'clock. I shall expect you to be there to receive it. That is all. Now you may go. We will endeavor to forget the disgrace you have put upon us, and I pray God I may never see your face again."

A low groan burst from Boyd Pey-ton's lips. He buried his face in his hands and shook like a woman.

"A horse is at your service," continued the colonel impassively, "to carry you into town. Leave him at the stable, as usual."

"I will take nothing, sir," answered Peyton at last, nerving himself to face the inevitable—"nothing but the uniform and the sword I wear. I won't ask any of you to break father's command to speak to me," he continued, looking at the rest through mistle-d eyes. "I will just say goodbye to you all, and may God bless you! I dare not ask father to bless me. You don't know how terrible this has been to me, but I am a Peyton too. I have my ideas of honor, and I must abide by them. Miss Mary, I am as earth beneath your feet; but, believe me, I have truly loved you, and I shall love you to the very end."

There was a little silence. No one answered, and for a moment no one moved. Finally Bob Darrow slowly swung on his heel and deliberately turned his back on his former friend.
The affection between them was gone,
the friendship forever broken. Mary Annan stared at him, her lip still curling. Pink averted her head. That silence, that ghastly silence, was broken only by the sobs of his sister and by the thin, low moan of his mother.

"Oh, Willis," she cried to her husband, "he is my boy! Do not drive him off!"

"For God's sake, sir," said the colonel furiously, "if you have a vestige of the instinct of a gentleman left in you, go!"

Peyton turned away instantly and slowly descended the steps, each foot-fall upon the boards sounding like a deathknell to those left behind.

"By heaven," cried Willis impetuously as his brother stepped rigidly down the path, "I can't stand it, and I won't!"

He sprang down the steps and in a moment reached his brother's side.

"Goodby, Boyd, old fellow!" he cried.
"I can't let you go without a word.
We don't think as you do, but we know you will do your duty, and I will say God bless you for father and mother and Pink and myself. God bless you, and some day it will come out all right."

There were tears in the boy's eyes.
He put his arm about his brother's neck and kissed him and then stopped on the walk and watched him proudly go on and on.

"Willis," cried the colonel sharply, as Boyd disappeared, "I forgive you this time, but try me no more. Help me to carry your mother indoors, I am afraid she has fainted. Daughter, run for some restorative."

"Miss Mary," said Darrow, as they

Observations taken at 7 a. m. River 46.5 on the gauge, a rise of 1.0 in last 24 hours. Wind east, nearly calm. Weather cloudy and cooler. Temperature 49. Fell, Observer.

The Memphis is due tonight from St. Louis.

The Hopkins is due today from Evansville.

The Savannah is due tonight en route to St. Louis.

The Tennessee is due from Tennessee river tomorrow.

The Rees Lee will pass Paducah en route to Memphis Tuesday.

The Sunshine will pass this city en route to Cincinnati Sunday.

The Dick Fowler departed this morning on time for Cairo with a good trip.

The Monte Baner is due from the Tradewater mines today with a tow of coal.

The Woolfolk is due from Tennessee river Saturday with a tow of timber. She has been out since Saturday.

Mr. J. B. Lord, of the Ayer & Lord Tie company, of Chicago, is in the city looking after the interests of his company. He will return home today.

The Mary Michael arrived last night from the Mississippi river with a tow of logs for the Palmer-Ferguson mills, and is today cleaning boilers and making a few slight repairs. She will leave immediately when this work has been completed for Mississippi river for another tow of logs.

The Clyde was laid up yesterday on account of the high water and the few landings left to make. The water has risen so high that none of the largest landings can be made and the boat was necessarily laid up. The Tennessee which is due tomorrow out of Tennessee river will not be laid up but will continue in that trade.

There has been a change in masters on the Ayer and Lord's Russell Lord, Captain Randall Ballowe, who has been master for the past three years, being transferred to other boats, and succeeded by Captain D. Morgan, of Cairo, the man who bought the wreck of the City of Pittsburgh last spring after the disaster.

The general forecast of the river is as follows: "The river will come to a standstill at Paducah Saturday and will reach a stage not higher than 47.5." This is the forecast summed up from the reports received from other rivers. The stages at the different points along the Ohio, Cumberland and Tennessee and at St. Louis are encouraging and dispel all fear for a bigger rise for the present.

Captain L. F. Richardson of Sioux City, Ia., was in the city yesterday, en route for Paducah, to meet the steamer William Towle of Louisville, says yesterday's Globe-Democrat. He has purchased the boat which is to be turned over to him at Paducah. He will take the steamer to Sioux City, where she will be used in the sand and general towing business. Captain Richardson secured John Gilham to pilot the steamer to Sioux City.

HASTENED MARRIAGE

WHY A MURRAY COUPLE SURPRISED THEIR FRIENDS.

A surprise wedding took place at Murray a few days ago, and the Ledger says it was hastened by an amusing chain of circumstances. The young man is a drug clerk, and while he was writing to his sweetheart, who was visiting in Mayfield, his employer was instructing him what directions to send with a dental prescription, and here is the letter the young lady received:

Murray, Ky., March 1, 1908.

My Dear Jennie: Since your departure yesterday for Mayfield I must confess that my efforts to be contented without you apply the antiseptic wash as previously directed I cannot guarantee a satisfactory set of teeth. My love has no vision of happiness and pleasure to be derived from a thorough application of hygienic methods for artificial teeth only as seen through the foundation of love that overflows my heart for you in the care of a perfect set of false teeth, and that in the near future the crowning point of our happiness will be consummated and after each meal your teeth should be taken out and thoroughly washed.

Lovingly, V.

The letter was lost by the young lady and found by a friend in Mayfield, who thought the joke on the man too good to keep.

Friends insisted in view of the tell-tale letter that marriage was necessary to prevent the young man from losing his mind, and the couple were married at once.

Theatrical Notes.

Blind Hawkins, the blind musician, will appear at Burk's chapel in concert tonight.

The audience has a bright smile which suffices their countenances when Mr. Willard Simms makes his appearance in that musical dramatization of that famous, funny magazine entitled "Pickings from Puck," which opens here tonight at The Kentucky. He gets much out of the role, which is both breezy and cheery.

"The Show Girl," which will appear at The Kentucky on Saturday matinee and night, is composed of beauty, both of pretty girls and effects, and there is not likely to be anything more attractive here this season. Stage settings, etc., are the same as seen in the Broadway, New York, production. The music and songs are catchy and the numbers which bid fair to become popular are "Café in Our Alley," "Psyche," "Good Night" and "Lover's Lane."

A rare treat is promised our theatergoers, the much-heralded Harry Beresford having been engaged to appear in Geo. H. Broadhurst's masterpiece, "The Wrong Mr. Wright," Monday night. This is the young actor who sprang into fame in a night, when an accident selected him to take the place of the late Roland Reed in this delightful comedy. Everywhere he appeared last season he was greeted with such laudatory press notices as well nigh astonish those interested in affairs dramatic.
